Council Increases Salaries

Several Officers
Of City Will Get Pay Hikes After
Next City Election

By D. Kelly Scruton

Two ordinances were given final passage at the meeting of the ordinance passed raises the salary of the city council on Monday night.

One was for raising the salaries of four elective city officials. The of the city magistrate (the police judge) to $1,500 a year; the salary of the city attorney to $1,500 a year; the city marshal (chief of police) to $3,900 a year; and the city clerk to $3,600.

The second ordinance related to the parking of trailers in the city and the control of trailer parks, along with various other restrictions and inspections. It also had a punishment clause in it for any violations.

Six new ordinances were introduced and read for the first time. The first ordinance was that establishing a sewer district to be known as Sewer District No. 100; a second ordinance establishes Sewer District No. 101. Another ordinance fixes the voting places in Sedalia and appointing of the city judges for the city election on Tuesday April 6. One okaying vacating an alley between Third and Fourth between Beacon and Warren. Two others are for accepting improvements, materials and work done in Sewer District No. 69-A and a similar ordinance for Sewer District No. 95, which have been completed by the J. W. Atkinson Construction Co.

The new sewer district No. 100 is the area from Ingram to 16th east to Thompson, south to 17th west of Ingram and back north to 16th; Sewer District No. 101 is in the vicinity of Eleventh and Beacon to 13th and Beacon.

Five interest coupons of $10 each on the public sewer bonded indebtedness were ordered burned. Councilman Arthur Schwarz and John Carroll burned the coupons. One sealed bid for the construction of a sewer in District No. 90 was presented the council by the J. W. Atkinson Construction Co. and it was for $42,150.50 the same as the city engineer's estimate.

The following liquor licenses were renewed: to sell package liquor, Sedalia Drug Store, 122 South Ohio; Paul's Package Store, 616 South Ohio; Esser Sales Corp., 914 South Ohio; George W. Stevens and Leo Sullivan for 302 West Main. Five per-cent beer, Orvis Crouch, 724 West 16th.

Councilman Schwarz reported on the liability insurance at the Bothwell Memorial Hospital stating the present insurance carried is $15,000 and $45,000 at a yearly premium of $310 and suggested, upon investigating, the insurance should be increased to $50,000 and $150,000 at a premium cost of $378. On his motion the council agreed to increase the policies and ordered it done.

Councilman C. L. Kelley reported the street study committee named recently had held several meetings and was due for another this coming week. A report on their recommendations would be made at the next council meeting.

Councilman Kelley also reported the street sweeper was in need of repairs and stated the cost would be about $300. The council approved the expenditure. He also asked permission to purchase between $350 and $400 of street gravel for Warren, Sneed and Park avenues which had been torn up for necessary repairs. This request was also granted.

Councilman Dr. Ira White stated the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad had requested no parking areas of 20 feet from their right-of-way at 16th and Ohio on both crossings. The request was granted.

A letter from George Handley, who resigned two weeks ago as manager of the city airport was read along with his monthly report. He thanked the council for its cooperation.

The report of the city officers were read and approved. A request for a restricted parking area on Ohio by Rosenthal's was read and referred to the proper committee.

A request of Cecil L. Swift for the right to connect with the city sewer system from his lot No. 18 in the Woodlawn Addition was (Please turn to Page 2 col. 4)

The Lion Roars

The lion who was supposed to bring March to us finally arrived, though a bit late. When he did he roared loudly, pounced on us with a heavy snowstorm. While it had stopped for the noon hour and early part of the afternoon, it was supposed to return later in the day.

Snow ending tonight with accumulation of three or more inches likely. Cloudy tonight. Wednesday mostly cloudy and continued cold. Low tonight near 20; high Wednesday in the upper 20s.

The temperature at 7 a. m. was 33; 31 at 1 p. m. and 32 at 2 p. m. Snowfall one inch, moisture content .10 inch. Stage at Lake of the Ozarks: 44.0, steady.

Coffee and Doughnut Session Wednesday; State Fair Is Topic

The Chamber of Commerce Coffee and Doughnut Session will be held from 10 to 11 a.m. Wednesday in the Magnolia Room of the Bothwell Hotel. Ross Ewing, secretary of Missouri State Fair, and W. H. Ritzenthaler, publicity director, will be present to tell of plans for the 1954 Missouri State Fair. There will be a discussion on the Fair and suggestions may be offered.

GOP Chairman Can't Go With Sen. McCarthy

Talks With Ike
But Will Not Say
What He Dislikes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican National Committee said after a conference with President Eisenhower today that "I can't go along" with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) when he attacks persons "fighting Communism just as he is."

Hall did not relate that comment directly to any specific situation but he said he did not like the way things developed last week in the controversy between McCarthy and the Army.

In that collision between the Wisconsin senator and Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens, McCarthy accused the army of "codding Communists" and Stevens accused him of browbeating officer witnesses.

Hall said he had discussed "the so-called McCarthy situation" with the President, but did not give Eisenhower's reaction.

Eisenhower's backing has been given to a statement from Stevens that the secretary will do what he can to protect any future Army witnesses against unfair treatment in hearings by McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee.

Hall told reporters he believed a cure for the situation might lie in changing the rules of committee procedure. A move in that direction has been initiated by the Senate Republican Policy Committee, and various bills on the point have been introduced.

After mentioning the subject of his talk with the President, Hall said: "My feeling about it is this: When Joe McCarthy is fighting communism I go along and we all go along. When he begins to attack persons who are fighting communism just as conscientiously as he is, I can't go along with him."

At another point in his exchange with reporters, the GOP chairman said he did not think anyone would say that "generals in our Army are not fighting communism."

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, was asked about Hall's remarks, but he had no comment. He did point out that Eisenhower will hold a news conference tomorrow morning.

Hagerty said the President has no plans at this time to see McCarthy.

Asked how he would combat the situation Hall said: "I think efforts of the policy committee in the Senate with respect to rules of committees might be the answer."

Hall would not attempt to anticipate what the President might say at his news conference tomorrow on the subject.

He said he did not ask Eisenhower to take any action.

To a question how the McCarthy probe might affect the coming campaign, Hall said: "I think all these incidents throw a fog around the program which is one of the finest ever presented by a President. I think that program will go through, and these little offshoots draw the people's attention away from that program."

Reminded of a statement he made several weeks ago that McCarthy was an asset to the party, Hall said he did say that but added:

"I don't like the situation as it developed last week."

Set Aside Slated Tax Slash

House Ways & Means Committee Votes
Against Corporation
Cut Set For April

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee voted 22-2 today to continue the present corporation income tax for one more year, and wipe out a two billion dollar reduction scheduled automatically under present law for April 1.

Only two Democrats—Reps. Mills of Arkansas and Gregory of Kentucky—voted against the move, strongly urged by President Eisenhower.

The committee decided to put the corporate rate into a general 300-page bill overhauling almost all of the nation's tax laws.

At the same time it decided to take up tomorrow the question of excise tax rates.

Under present law, a number of cuts are scheduled April 1 in the excise rates, sometimes called sales taxes.

The top corporation income tax rate, now 52 per cent, is scheduled to drop automatically to 47 per cent April 1. President Eisenhower has urged a one-year extension of the present rate to help reduce the federal deficit.

At one time the President's proposal had stirred strong opposition, including promises of a fight by Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.), Ways and Means chairman. Also, there was widespread talk of a compromise at a 50 per cent corporation income tax rate.

Committee members said much of the opposition has melted, however, because of other tax cuts in effect or planned this year, notably business benefits provided in the general tax revision measure. If approved by the House and Senate, it would reduce revenues from individuals and business by about $1,300,000,000 the first year and more later, chiefly through more liberal deductions.

Previously, Republican committee members had ruled out any effort to deal with major tax rates in the revision bill. The decision to shift tactics came at a private caucus late yesterday, after a series of meetings involving Republican congressional leaders, President Eisenhower and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

GOP members said the new plan would:

1. Help counter a Democratic argument that the revision bill is heavily loaded in favor of business benefits.
2. Clear the air for separate handling of another bill dealing only with excise tax rates. Originally it had been planned to put the corporate and excise rates into a single package.

Reed was said to be planning to introduce soon a bill backed by GOP House leaders which would cut all excise rates above 10 per cent down to that level, except for liquor and tobacco.

This would bring substantial reductions in taxes on movie and other admissions, telephone and telegraph bills, passenger fares, jewelry, women's handbags, furs, cosmetics, luggage, sporting goods and other items.

Plans call for it to provide also for cancellation of reductions scheduled April 1 on other goods—liquor, automobiles, gasoline, tobacco, beer and wine.

In all this maneuvering, Republicans are hoping to build up strength to try to defeat a Democratic move to write into the revision bill an increase from $600 to $700 in individual income tax exemptions. This would cut income taxes by 2½ billion dollars a year.

The exemption increase is strongly opposed by the administration.

Teamsters Picket N. Y. Piers, Threaten a Waterfront Tie-up

NEW YORK (AP)—AFL union teamsters picketed a New York pier today, threatening a major tie-up of the huge waterfront.

The move against the old International Longshoremen's Union, ousted from the AFL, followed a three-hour meeting last night of the eastern conference of the AFL International Brotherhood of teamsters.

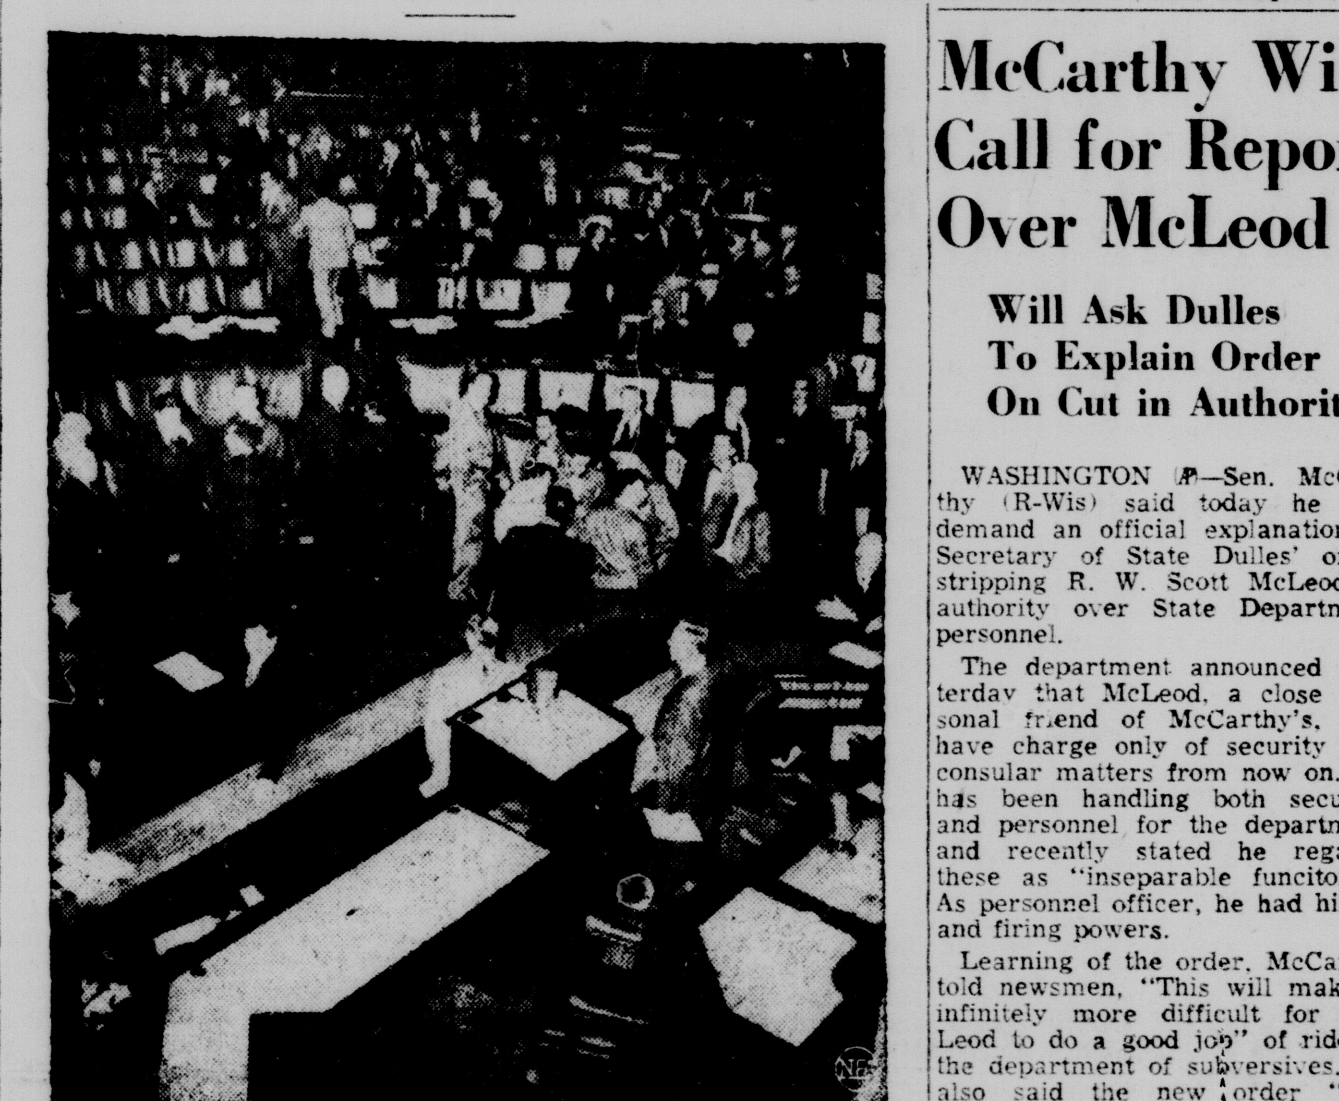

Earlier a teamsters' official had warned of picketing at about half the piers in the port, the largest in the world. However, today's picket line announced said the teamsters planned to picket all but three piers in Manhattan, all but the Bush Terminal and one pier in Brooklyn, and all piers on Staten Island.

The teamsters moved in the latest crisis in the struggle between the AFL and the now-independent International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA), which has been refusing since Friday to load or unload trucks driven by members of Teamsters Local 807.

ILA boycotting of cargo handled by the teamsters came in retaliation to the teamsters' refusal to cross picket lines set up at a Moore-McCormack pier by the new AFL International Longshore-

Jaundice More Prevalent Here Now; No Cause For Alarm

During the past few days the Medical Society has received inquiries concerning the number of cases of jaundice in and about Sedalia, particularly those occurring among school children.

While it is true that there are more cases occurring now than in the past, there is no cause for undue alarm.

Sporadic cases of this type of jaundice are seen the year around with a predominance of cases in the late fall. It is rare that epidemic proportions are reached among civilian population. However, there were epidemics in army camps during the war.

Catastrophic jaundice, or infectious jaundice as the disease is called in medical terms, is a disease of the liver and bile ducts produced by a virus. The exact method of contracting the disease is usually not determined in the individual case. As a rule only one member of a family gets the disease which indicates it is not very infectious or contagious.

It has been shown by human experiments that the virus may be transmitted by food, water or inanimate objects contaminated with human feces. The virus is quickly destroyed by the chlorination of water. The usual incubation period is three to four weeks, although it may be longer.

The jaundice usually affects children and young adults who are otherwise in excellent health. The disease usually starts with a vague indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea or vomiting, and occasionally a mild diarrhea. There is usually a varying amount of fever early in the disease.

After several days, usually five to seven, of these indefinite symptoms the jaundice appears as a yellow tinge to the eyeballs. It is before the onset of the jaundice that the disease is most contagious. Some physicians believe that many patients who have what is commonly called "intestinal flu" actually have a mild form of this disease and never become yellow.

In most instances the disease lasts two to three weeks and patients recover rapidly after the onset of the jaundice with no permanent ill effects. Complications are rare. There is no specific treatment known or required except general measures and bed rest. In some instances it has been thought that injections of gamma globulin early after exposure may prevent the disease, but this procedure is not generally used.

Parents who note that their children are not up to par and perhaps have some of the symptoms of the disease should keep the child home from school and observe him for additional symptoms. If they persist, they should consult their family physician for advice.

The best method of prevention is practicing good hygienic measures such as washing the hands before eating.

Rep. Bentley Remains Quite Critical After House Foray

Other Wounded Congressmen Are All Reported Doing Well

Additional Guards Put On Job In Capitol
As Result of Puerto Ricans' Shooting
Melee Into House Chamber on Monday

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Cleveland, Ohio, surgeon, Dr. George Crile, who flew here for consultation, examined Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Ohio) today, and said he is improving and has a "better than 50-50 chance" to live.

Congress added 30 guards to the Capitol and resumed business as usual today although still agitated at the incredible pistol attack by Puerto Rican fanatics on the House chamber.

An air of gloom was heightened by news that Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich.)—most seriously wounded of five lawmakers hit by the spray of bullets from a gallery—remained in a critical condition.

In an 11:45 a. m. bulletin, the 35-year-old lawmaker's physician still gave him only a 50-50 chance to recover despite emergency surgery and four blood transfusions. Bentley, hit in liver and lung, was in an oxygen tent.

The other wounded lawmakers were all reported to be doing well. About 200 members were in their seats when the House convened at noon. They stood with bowed heads as the Rev. Bernard Braskamp, chaplain, prayed for the recovery of the victims, for strength and faith for their relatives, and for forgiveness for their assailants.

Dr. Braskamp visited Bentley this morning and said the wounded congressman had asked that he pray for those who shot him because "they did not know what they were doing."

The four Puerto Ricans held for the attack were described by police as showing no signs of remorse.

Two of them, in interviews with reporters last night, had declared they were not sorry.

Lolita Lebron, 34, who claimed the ringleader's role, summed up, "I do what I must for my country."

She said the attack was intended to dramatize the demand by Puerto Rican Nationalists for independence for the island.

One of her companions, Rafael Concel Miranda, brushed aside questions about the attack. "We don't talk about the little things," he said.

Also held are Andres F. Cordero, 29, and Irving Flores, 27. All the Puerto Ricans are from New York City. They are held in bail of $100,000 each.

U. S. Attorney Leo Rover announced the government will begin presenting evidence against the four to a federal grand jury tomorrow.

They are charged with assault with intent to kill against each of the five congressmen. If convicted, they could receive sentences of up to 75 years in prison.

If Bentley should die, the charge would be changed to murder which is punishable in the District of Columbia by death in the electric chair.

In addition to Bentley, the wounded are Reps. Kenneth A. Roberts (D-Ala.), shot in the knee; Ben F. Jensen (R-Iowa), wounded in the left shoulder; Clifford Davis (D-Tenn.), shot in the right leg; and George H. Fallon, (D-Md.), hit in the hip.

Roberts also underwent surgery, but it was of exploratory nature. His physician reported that fears of nerve damage proved unfounded.

Bentley was struck in the upper right chest by a bullet which traveled through the lung, diaphragm, liver and stomach and came out his left side.

After a 1½ hour operation yesterday the first-term multi-millionaire representative from Michigan was given only a 50-50 chance for life.

"He is now in the hands of the Lord," said the surgeon, Dr. Charles Stanley White, after the operation.

At 6 a. m. today, however, Dr. Joseph R. Young, chief of staff at Casualty Hospital, said the 35-year-old congressman, while still in critical condition, had shown improvement, was cheerful and able to talk coherently.

A 7:45 a. m. report said Bentley had a "fairly restful" night; that temperature, pulse and respiration were at "a satisfactory level" although the pulse rate is higher than desirable.

A morning bulletin from Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital said Jensen and Davis spent a comfortable night and were "feeling pretty well this morning."

Both ate breakfast and "neither of them is on the list of seriously ill patients," the bulletin said.

It added that Jensen was the less comfortable of the two and said he might be operated on today for removal of the bullet from his shoulder.

Reps. Roberts and Fallon, in Casualty Hospital with Bentley, both said they felt chipper this morning.

"I still have some pain but I had a good night," Roberts told a newsman.

Fallon, sitting up in bed when reporters came to his room, said he felt all right—"that is, as well as you can feel with a bullet hole in you."

Meanwhile increased security precautions, which already had been ordered at the Capitol, appeared also at the White House 16 blocks up Pennsylvania Avenue. At the main gate, leading to the presidential office—for example, four uniformed White House policemen and a Secret Service agent were stationed—two outside the gate and two inside. Ordinarily only two men are at the post and they stay in a little house just inside the grounds. A guard house at the Pennsylvania Avenue end of Executive Avenue, which runs alongside the White House, was manned for the first time in months.

A scene of confusion without precedent in the House of Representatives occurred when the Puerto Rican fanatics suddenly produced heavy pistols and began shooting wildly from the visitors' gallery during yesterday's routine session.

Congressmen dived under desks or sped to the aid of fallen colleagues. Many of them thought the sharp reports were those of (Please turn to page 2, Column 2)

Eyewitnesses Tell About The Shooting

Stunning Moment
Recalled By Few
Of Those Present

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some 250 House members were on the floor yesterday afternoon when shots rang out from the gallery.

For a stunning moment, nobody could believe what was happening. Rep. Keating (R-N.Y.), got the same fleeting one. He was sitting next to Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich.).

Bentley dropped right at my feet," Keating said. "Then I dropped to duck the bullets."

Rep. Wheeler (D-Ga.) also thought of firecrackers. He was lighting a cigarette at the rear of the chamber. He looked up to see a bullet hole 18 inches from his head, another bullet hitting two or three feet from the first.

"I fell to my knees and crawled out to the cloak room," said Wheeler.

Seated next to another legislator who was hit, Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D-Ala.), was Democratic Rep. Priest of Tennessee.

"I heard the sound," Priest said, "and almost immediately Ken said to me, 'Percy, I'm shot.' Then he toppled over."

Seeing his colleague was bleeding at the knee, Priest yanked off his tie and applied a tourniquet.

A couple of legislators had just left the floor on business they didn't want to attend to. One of them, Rep. Gubser (R-Calif.) was annoyed when he got a call from Postmaster General Summerfield.

"I was burned up," he said, "because I wanted to hear the debate on the farm labor bill which is important in my district."

"Minutes later," he added, "after the shooting, I found a bullet hole in the committee table right where I was standing."

And Rep. Leo Allen (R-Ill.) related:

"A newspaperman from my home town called me out for an interview. While I was out the shooting started.

"I'll never curse you newspapermen out again."

Puerto Rican Leader Sends Note Deploing Shooting In Congress

NEW YORK (AP)—A leader of New York's Puerto Ricans sent a telegram today to Rep. Joseph W. Martin (R-Mass.), speaker of the House, deploring the shooting yesterday in Congress.

The telegram was sent by Dr. Jose N. Cestero, chairman of the Puerto Rican-Spanish division of the Democratic National Committee and a member of Mayor Robert F. Wagner's advisory committee.

Dr. Cestero said he would confer with Wagner later today to form a committee dedicated to showing that the actions of the fanatics did not represent the Puerto Ricans' true attitude.

Shelbyville Area Has Lasting Water Problem

SHELBYVILLE (AP)—A study of water needs in this area as a result of the drought indicates the problem is no temporary one.

City officials at Shelbyville have reported that municipality is using twice as much water as it did several years ago. Palmyra council members recently studied the increase in water usage there over the last few years.

Increased population, more industry, modern air conditioners, kitchen appliances and car washes have been mentioned as some of the causes for increased water usage.

House Okays Ceiling Lift On Hay Plan

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — The House Appropriations Committee gave quick approval today to a bill lifting the $62 million ceiling on Missouri's freight-free hay program.

That made it possible that the bill—No. 1 subject of the current special session—could be considered by the full House later today.

The committee's favorable action came despite charges by Republican members that the drought emergency program has gone beyond the Legislature's original purpose in setting it up last fall.

Rep. Richard M. Webster (R) and Appropriations Chairman Max Myers (R) both of Jasper county, raised the issue at an appropriations committee hearing with L. C. Carpenter, state agriculture commissioner.

"If we're going to carry this program on," Webster said, "I certainly object to the use of the taxpayers' money to take care of the needs of a few farmers for 1955 and '56."

He suggested the Agriculture Department check the amounts of hay actually in the barns so that from now on hay would go only to farmers who need it most and not be stockpiled by wealthy operators.

Myers suggested the program had gone beyond the original purpose of maintaining basic herds, although Carpenter said that was its only aim.

"Has it subsidized the livestock industry for future periods by permitting some farmers to buy in excess of their drought needs?" he asked.

Carpenter said he thought not. He agreed with Webster it should not be "a giveaway program" but merely aimed at preserving foundation herds.

So far, Carpenter said, the hay shipping program has produced a net of forage for 100,000 head of cattle and a million tons in four months.

He credited its success to an open winter and "tremendous cooperation" by 846 hay dealers.

Carpenter was the first witness as the committee opened hearings on a bill to lift the present $62 million ceiling on the fund to pay freight on hay shipped in from surplus states.

Here's the way he explained it: When the legislature set up the relief program in a whirlwind special session last October, agricultural leaders figured a million tons of hay actually were needed to give Missouri's livestock full forage until the pastures come back. But they also believed it would be impossible to more than half that much.

So they set 500,000 tons as a target and agreed $62 million would finance it.

The hay program worked so well that the fund is almost gone. But a check of county extension agents recently showed Missouri could use about 225,000 tons more hay at an estimated freight cost of about $3,600,000.

Carpenter said that was the reason Gov. Phil M. Donnelly asked for elimination of the ceiling and an additional $2 million in state funds to be used with $1,604,000 in federal aid.

He was questioned closely by Republican members of the committee about allocations. Carpenter explained there was only one requirement as far as the state was concerned—whether the livestock owner needed hay.

He said he didn't think the state could control allocation of hay beyond that point. Thus, he said, the state couldn't tell the dealers which stockmen should get hay and which should have to wait.

Rep. Max Myers (R) of Jasper county, appropriations chairman, disagreed. He said he thought the state should have regulated sale of hay to assure purchases by the poorest Missouri stockmen.

Carpenter said he knew of no cases in which wealthy stockmen got all the hay they wanted while poorer men got none.

Myers said "I do" but did not go further. He said only that it looked like the money got the hay.

The agriculture commissioner said he believed federal loan facilities made it possible for the poor man to get money for hay.

The bill under consideration is one to lift the ceiling on the hay fund. Another measure, to add the governor's requested $2 million in state funds, has not yet been taken up by the committee.

Rotarians Learn Of State Civil Defense Setup

Charles E. Dewey Jr., chief of communications for the Civil Defense Agency of Missouri, addressed the Rotary Club Monday night at Bothwell Hotel on the function of the department.

The meeting was presided over by the vice-president, W. B. Rich, and invocation was by Rev. Thomas E. Croxton, O. W. Wiley was song leader with Miss Lillian Fox at the piano.

W. O. Stanley was program chairman and presented Gen. John C. McLaughlin, who introduced the speaker.

Guests introduced were: H. O. Berry, guest of W. O. Stanley, and the junior Rotarian for March, Norman Griswold, who was introduced by Charles Hofheins.

The Baby Rotarian, Merle Vaughan, was introduced by Ralph Carroll.

Miss Sara M. Bowron

Sedalia friends have been informed of the recent death, at Wallace Hospital, Lebanon, of Miss Sara M. Bowron, former Sedalia resident.

Miss Bowron was the only daughter of Judge Joseph W. and Emily Coats Bowron and was born at Rouses Point, N. Y. When she was still a child, the family moved to Sedalia, living here a number of years during which she attended Sedalia schools and was graduated from Central Business College. She took a position in Kansas City, which she held several years, but most of her life was spent at Lebanon.

For a time Miss Bowron was employed in the office of Phil M. Donnelly, at present Missouri's governor. In 1934 she took a position in the Lebanon office of the Missouri Welfare Department, and in 1946, when the district office of the Missouri Division of Health and Welfare was established, she took a position as stenographer and continued in that work until her death.

She was active in Lebanon social, church and business life, being a member of the First Congregational Church and of the Business and Professional Women's Club, serving several years as secretary of the latter organization.

The late J. J. Coats, residing in Sedalia many years, was a nephew.

Surviving are: a brother, William J. Bowron, Casper, Wyo.; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Rose Bowron, who made her home in Lebanon; a niece, Mrs. Howard Guss, Riceville, Ia.

Couhigs Get Record String of Bass

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Couhig have just returned from their most successful fishing trip. At Benton they caught their limit of bass every day they fished and they came up with some record strings.

Their one day's catch of 12 bass weighed 34½ pounds and was the heaviest that had been brought in at the Pontiac dock. Mrs. Couhig caught a 5½ pounder which was tops for the trip.

Shootings

pranksters began firing from desks and plaster from walls and ceiling. In the gallery a number of operators also helped overpower three of the assailants as their weapons were emptied and they tried frantically to reload and resume their barrage.

There was a wild melee in the gallery itself and in the corridor outside as guards rushed in.

Through it all the Puerto Ricans screamed for independence for their island homeland as they sprayed bullets over the chamber from Lugers held grimly in both hands. After her pistol was empty Mrs. Lebron waved a Puerto Rican flag as she had at the outset to signal the outbreak.

The dark-haired woman said the shooting was intended "to bring the attention of the people to the plight of Puerto Rico. It is a country, not a race."

Those held are members of the Nationalist party, the same group represented by the two men who tried in 1950 to assassinate the then President Harry Truman.

The party is only a small minority in the island commonwealth. The woman and two men were disarmed and taken into custody in a riotous scene just outside the House visitors' gallery. The third man was arrested later at a bus terminal.

An estimated 20 to 30 heavy caliber pistols blazed from the House chamber, nicking seats and walls, puncturing the new ceiling, chipping plaster and causing everyone to duck for cover.

Raymond P. Tolson pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of careless and imprudent driving and was fined $10 and costs.

Sick Loan Cupboard Is Being Started by Health Committee

Monday evening a group of citizens, representative of the people of Sedalia and Pettis County, held an open meeting at Temple Beth El, Broadway and Missouri. The group heard the report of a fact-finding committee it had established at its meeting early in January and further discussed various health problems of the community. The group consisted of people of Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths and also representing both rural and urban areas of Pettis County.

After the group heard the reports of its committee and discussed with interest and concern many aspects of community health problems, it accomplished two specific things:

First, it organized itself with permanent officers under the name of "Citizens Health Committee." The following officers were elected: David Bryan, pastor of the First Christian Church as chairman with Mrs. Abe Silverman and Rev. Joseph Loughran as co-chairmen. Other officers will be elected at a later meeting of the group.

Secondly, the group voted to accept a "Sick Loan Cupboard" as its first project. The Sick Loan Cupboard idea is one that has been used with great success by other communities and the group was unanimous in feeling that this presented a way for it to make some constructive contribution toward health problems of the community.

A loan cupboard of basic hospital and sick room equipment will be established with the intention of making certain necessary items available, free of cost, to people of the community who need them.

Peterschmidts Return Here, Open Business

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peterschmidt have returned to Sedalia to make their home and to go into business here. They returned several weeks ago and are now residing at 409½ West Broadway.

They have purchased the property formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Irven Menough, at 18th and Limit (Highway 65) where they will open the Fairway Furniture and Gifts. Mr. Peterschmidt said he hopes to open his business within the next two weeks and not later than April 1.

The building is being completely remodeled and redecorated and is expected to be completed within the next ten days.

Mr. Peterschmidt will be remembered as "Pete" and in Sedalia he was formerly with the Taystee Baking Co., when Vic Leffler was the manager and later he was in charge before going to Kansas City where the family resided for several years. For the past 15 years Mr. and Mrs. Peterschmidt and family have been residing in El Paso, Tex.

"We are certainly glad to be back home," Mr. Peterschmidt said, "snow and all. It really looks good to us."

The report furnished yesterday listed 2,008 cases outside the Defense Department, but some persons fell into more than one category, as for instance a loose talker also found to be a heavy drinker. Only 1,782 individuals were involved.

The breakdown on the 2,008 separations was: information of a subversive nature, 355; sex perverts, 190; felonies or misdemeanors, 504; other unspecified causes, 959.

The separations included 983 persons fired and 1,241 who resigned, including the 211 dismissals and 231 resignations in the Defense Department. The report did not indicate whether some of these employees got jobs in other agencies.

The Interior Department led the list with 72 "subversive information" cases, followed by the Veterans Administration with 45, State Department 43 and Justice Department 41. One was listed for the White House.

Young's figures did not include the total number of employees working in the agencies covered.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-Sc), senior Democrat on the Senate committee, said before the hearings he had a lot of questions for Young. And that if the answers were not satisfactory, he would press for a Senate inquiry.

He said in an interview he did not think Young's information so far was very enlightening.

"I want him to tell me if any of these people are Communists," the senator said, "if they are, I want to know if the administration has issued any warrants for them."

Trustees Approve Plans for Jefferson City Hospital

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—Trustees have approved preliminary plans for a new 50-bed Memorial Hospital here estimated to cost $900,000.

The trustees, reporting at an annual meeting last night, said they were going ahead with plans to seek federal aid under the Hill Burton Act. No site has been selected.

March Cold Wave Knives Great Plains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A March cold wave knifed into the Great Plains today as the Ohio River Valley states dug out from a paralyzing snowstorm that took at least 13 lives.

The arctic air, flowing down from northern Alberta, sent the mercury skidding to subzero levels in the Northern Plains and along the eastern slopes of the Rockies. The entire Midwest was expected to feel the sting.

Many schools still were closed and highway travel was impeded today after a heavy snowstorm that piled a deep blanket over northern Ohio and eastern Kentucky and eastern Tennessee.

Eleven deaths were attributed to the storm in Cleveland, one in Toledo and one in Friendsville, Tenn.

The soggy, clinging snow snapped power and telephone lines in the tree-state area, disrupted air travel and snarled bus service. Huge drifts blocked highways and hundreds of schools remained closed.

The storm center moved northward into Canada and only snow flurries continued today.

Some snow accompanied the southward sweep of cold into Wyoming and Colorado but brought little prospect for relief in the southeastern Colorado dust belt. Farmers said strong winds would nullify the effects of the precipitation.

Denver and Cody, Wyo., reported 4 inches of snow but Lamar in the heart of the Colorado dust belt had only a trace.

The temperature dipped to 4 degrees in Glasgow, Mont., and subzero readings were forecast in cold wave warnings for the Dakotas and Minnesota.

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) asked Young whether this information was sufficient cause for separating these employees from government service.

"I don't know," Young replied. He said he heads of the agencies involved probably would be able to answer the question.

Young appeared before the Civil Service Committee in response to Democratic demands for a probe of the disputed question of security risks in the government. He supplied a new breakdown with some more data than was contained in the one he sent to the House yesterday.

He boosted to 383 the number of persons separated from their federal jobs by dismissal or resignation last year who had "information of a subversive nature" in their files. The increase to this figure from the 355 announced yesterday was due to 28 persons the Army got rid of in the past year because of subversive information.

Young had sent up a report yesterday stating that out of 1,782 security separations by the Eisenhower administration between May 28 and Dec. 31 of last year, the 355 had subversive information in their files.

President Eisenhower has said his administration got rid of 2,200 security risks in its first year in office.

Young said yesterday his 1,782 total did not include 442 separations in the Defense Department on which details would be submitted later. That apparently accounted for the discrepancy between his figures and the President's.

Helicopters Crash, Six Navy Men Die

KEY WEST, Fla., Mo.—Six Navy men died today in the flaming crash of two helicopters a mile from downtown Key West.

The helicopters collided 100 feet off the ground seconds after taking off on a training exercise.

Navy officials said they were flying in formation and as they turned to cross Fleming Key about a mile from the seaplane base, one helicopter slid into the other.

Both plunged to the bleak coral key and burst into flames.

'Body' Asks Sleepily What Firemen Seek

SPRINGWATER, N. Y. — A dozen firemen were sifting the ashes of a migrant workers' building yesterday when the "body" they were hunting for strolled sleepily from a nearby barn and asked what was going on.

Alexander Ross, a Negro farm laborer, said he jumped from a second story window when the fire broke out Sunday night. He crossed the road and went back to sleep in the barn.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — Joseph M. Badgett of St. Louis filed today for the Republican nomination for state auditor.

He is the only GOP candidate in the field so far. State Auditor Haskell Holman is the only Democrat.

Clarifies List of 383 Persons Fired

WASHINGTON, Mo.—Philip Young, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, said today the 383 persons separated from the government under disloyalty provisions of President Eisenhower's security program are not necessarily "Communists or subversives."

Young told a Senate committee the figure of 383 "is merely indicative that in 383 cases, there was information of a definitely subversive nature in the files."

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) asked Young whether this information was sufficient cause for separating these employees from government service.

"I don't know," Young replied. He said he heads of the agencies involved probably would be able to answer the question.

Miss Engholm, Mr. Crawford Are Married

Miss Beverly Jean Engholm, daughter of Mrs. Verney Engholm and the late Mr. Engholm, became the bride of Mr. Bert Crawford, son of Mrs. Prudence Crawford, at 8 p. m. Monday, February 2, at the Epworth Methodist Church. The Rev. H. L. Alley performed the double ring ceremony before a setting of burning tapers, spring flowers and palms. The Rev. Ralph Emerson Hurd offered the prayer.

Mrs. Mae Moser, at the organ, played a program of nuptial music and accompanied Miss Lois Green, who sang "At Dawning," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer." Preceding the ceremony, Miss Carolyn Heck and Miss Ada Louise Durrill lighted the candles. Both wore ballerina length formal.

The bride, given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. Glen Henderson, wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and satin, trimmed with rhinestones and pearls, designed with an illusion yoke and a full hoop skirt, which lengthened into an aisle wide train. A coronet of lace outlined with rhinestones and pearls, held her fingertip length veil of illusion and Chantilly lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and carnations.

Miss Mary Schier, who was maid of honor, wore a gown of green and pink nylon illusion over satin with a matching headpiece. Her cascade bouquet was of pink carnations.

Mr. Jack Crawford, brother of the groom, served as best man. Mr. Donald Hayes and Mr. Jimmy Hayes were ushers. A reception was held at the bride's home immediately following the ceremony. Miss Carolyn Heck was in charge of the guest book. Miss Donna Richardson presided at the punch bowl. Miss Shirley Cooper served the wedding cake with Miss Dean Hinken and Miss Ada Louise Durrill assisting. All were attired in pastel formal with wrist corsages of white carnations.

The bride is a senior at Smith-Cotton High School. The groom is employed at the Pittsburgh-Corning Corp. After a brief honeymoon through the Southern states, the couple returned to their home at 314 North Summit.

Mrs. Bert Crawford

Mrs. Donaldson Tells Sorosis Of Hectic World of Advertising

Mrs. John Donaldson, Carrollton, the former Martha Jones of Sedalia, talked Monday afternoon before Sorosis, taking for her subject, "Facts and Fantasy of Advertising."

Mrs. Donaldson, who was in the advertising business for seven years, and was assistant advertising manager at Harzfelds in Kansas City at the time of her recent marriage to Mr. Donaldson, also a former Sedalian, said that advertising is a merger of facts and fantasy. Facts include the price, the material, how long it will wear, if it is washable and other things; fantasy is that which weaves around it ideas that will appeal to the buying public.

There is a little definition of advertising which says: "advertising is an idea, plus a pen, plus a bottle of aspirin," but the speaker said that wasn't quite right, it should be a carload of aspirin. Her talk was filled with humor as she presented a very vivid picture of what it is like in an advertising office.

Advertising is the best way of bringing the buyers and sellers together she declared. It is a convenience to the customer, for whatever they need they can pick up the paper and look at the advertisements where they are certain to find several ads on whatever they are interested, as well as the price, colors and sizes and know just where to find what they want.

Manufacturers are often overstocked on goods, Mrs. Donaldson said, get rid of this merchandise by offering it to a retail store at tremendous reduction. Through this special purchase the savings are passed on to the customer.

All advertising, she said, is controlled and both newspaper advertising and magazine advertising is checked daily by the Better Business Bureau. "You can depend on any ad you see." If it is gold, it is gold; if it says it is washable, it is washable. The ad is just the way it reads from any reputable store because it wants to keep its reputation.

The advertising department is composed of a publicity director in absolute and complete charge of all newspaper, magazine and radio advertising; the assistant advertising director runs the advertising office and under him are: the art department, with from 1 to 30 artists; the copy department; the proofreading department, which is one of the most vital parts of the office because that is a tremendous job. Mrs. Donaldson said; the research department, where merchandise is tested for washing and other qualities; the fashion department that plans the fashion shows or fashion co-ordination.

The advertising department, she said, is always in a state of confusion. Each department is given a budget and each separate thing advertised comes from that certain department, all going to make up the big ad, and each department is charged with its part of the ad. The third week of every month a monthly schedule is made out, and the ads are put together to make sense. That is, when there is an ad for children's dresses there are also ads for children's shoes, hats and coats. An ad for suits will have also blouses, and a cocktail dress will have evening bags and evening wraps.

For some unexplained reason, said Mrs. Donaldson, people who buy the very expensive things and those who buy large sizes shop on Monday. Tuesday is a good day for sports clothes. Wednesday is for suits, blouses, cosmetics, games, music boxes and such; Thursday is a straight-out good buying day on which is advertised the medium and low priced merchandise; Friday is children's and then infants to teenagers, and Saturday is another straight, good selling day.

Sketches are made by various artists and then they go to the finish artists who complete the drawing as it will appear in the paper. The copy, the art work and the layout are then sent to the newspaper. After it is set up, a proof is given to be corrected and is checked by everybody. The order might have been blue and it came in green, the color would have to be changed in the ad and other changes might need to be made. The final proof is okayed and then if there is anything wrong it is the stores fault, not the newspaper's. The tear sheets are kept and the buyer is supposed to not just meet, but beat last year and the ads are measured by the columns, not the inches, she said.

Mrs. Donaldson told briefly of the fashion shows. There are seasonal shows, a designers' show, which shows the entire scope of that line, the shows which tie in with the magazine ads, the fashion shows for men only, at which time ideas for Christmas gifts are shown. The professional models can be called and the store knows their sizes, their best colors and the models know just how and where to walk.

Advertising is a nerve-racking business, she declared, meeting deadlines, but it is full of interesting people, always full of fun. It is a wonderful field for a woman because she can rise just as high as a man and make the same salary.

Mrs. Donaldson was introduced by Mrs. E. E. Brummett, program chairman for the day, and a luncheon in her honor was served prior to the meeting.

Films Being Used In Visual Education Of Handicapped Youth

Visual education has been initiated into the program of teaching handicapped children here and Mrs. George West, the teacher, is very grateful for the help she has received from the Girl Scout organization.

Mrs. West did not know what kind of a projector would be needed until the films arrived and when they did come she found the Girl Scouts had such a projector. Mrs. Mary Houston, secretary of the Girl Scout office, has been showing the films while Mrs. William Woodcock takes her place in the Scout office.

During January and February two films have been shown to the primary grades, "Monkey See and Monkey Do" and "Pincho", to the intermediates, "Common Animals of the Woods", "American Insects", "Literature for Children"

By Mrs. Durward Goode. The hostess assisted by Mrs. Conrad, served refreshments to 14 members.

H-Bomb Tests at Eniwetok Designed to Give 'New Look'

By Douglas Larsen
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—The spring series of nuclear weapon tests under way at the Pacific Eniwetok Proving Grounds is destined to make the country's military 'new look' prematurely old and gray.

The series will include numerous nuclear detonations. But the featured attraction is the dropping of history's first usable hydrogen weapon from a B-36 bomber. At least Pentagon officials fervently hope that Russia has not yet made a deliverable H-Bomb and that the Soviet hydrogen explosion confirmed by the Atomic Energy Commission was strictly a "test device."

During the past months there has been feverish preparation for the current tests. Scientists, components of the various bombs and devices and tons of complicated measuring instruments have been flown to the Pacific.

As a result, discussions of the significance of the tests have been carried on at length recently by defense planners. The consensus of these talks is that the series will end up being an all-Air Force show.

The last series of continental tests a year ago at Las Vegas, Nev., turned out to be an all-Army show, with the unveiling of the atomic cannon and the demonstration that ground troops could dig in a few hundred yards from a blast and suffer no casualties from it.

Data from the last Las Vegas tests figured importantly in the new Joint Chiefs of Staff so-called "new look" that places emphasis on saving manpower through atomic fire power. It still weights the balance of forces in favor of the Air Force.

It is believed that when all the information from the new Eniwetok tests is in it will force even far more emphasis on the need for more air power.

Here are some of the new facts and reasoning on the Eniwetok tests which lead to these conclusions:

It's the belief that a hydrogen bomb, which requires an atomic bomb trigger, will never be packaged small enough to be fired from a cannon or even to be carried by a plane small enough to be based on a carrier. Thus, a successful B-36 test gives the Air Force exclusive delivery capability of the most powerful weapon in the nation's arsenal. It restores a monopoly which the Air Force had with the A-bomb for several years after World War II.

Improvements in the H-bomb which make it relatively cheap give the Air Force heavy bombers a new tactical role.

Informed reports say the new H-bomb is really a three-stage affair. The intense heat of the atomic bomb trigger starts the fusion process of the hydrogen substances which are tritium and deuterium. The final stage is the setting off of a substance known as lithium.

It's lithium which gives the H-bomb its final unbelievably destructive "kick," the scientists report. And compared to tritium, which is said to cost $1,000,000 a pound, lithium is a dirt cheap plentiful element.

Thus the addition of lithium, with minimum amounts of the expensive tritium, makes the final H-bomb a relatively inexpensive weapon. And it's this feature which will make H-bombs a tactical weapon, worth using against enemy troops in the field.

Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R., N.Y.), chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, recently revealed this about the power of an earlier hydrogen explosion:

"It tore a cavity in the floor of the ocean a full mile in diameter and 175 feet in the center. The heat and blast over land would cause absolute destruction over an area six miles in diameter with an area of severe-to-moderate damage 14 miles in diameter. In other words an area of 300 square miles would be blanketed by this one explosion."

This force plus the fact that it's relatively cheap makes the new H-bomb a good weapon against ground troops, some AF experts now believe. No amount of dispersal of troops could save them from such destruction. The same reasoning makes the atomic cannon obsolete.

Rep. Cole also claims that an H-bomb "gives one bomber with one load the destructive force exceeding all the TNT dropped on Germany, Italy and Japan combined through all of World War II."

If the Eniwetok test of the B-36 is successful, it means that its new punch boasts the potential strength of the existing U. S. Strategic Air Command at least 20 per cent, it is claimed.

It's reported the test H-bomb may be released in the form of a captive guided missile. This will give the bomber time to escape the wide area of destruction created by the explosion. The bombardier on the B-36 could guide the bomb-missile to its target, with any one of several control systems already perfected.

Finally, it is reported, if the new, cheap H-bomb is as successful as everyone hopes, it will revise plans for developing long range missiles. The fabulous cost of just one so-called intercontinental missile has raised serious doubt as to whether they are even worth trying to make.

However, in view of the possibility that one H-bomb missile could deliver the punch of a whole wing of bombers, serious consideration is expected to be given to stepping up this phase of the missile program.

What the Eniwetok tests add up to, Pentagon experts agree, is the possibility of a revolution in strategic and tactical planning.

Manners Make Friends

Most young wives don't like to have their mothers-in-law ask them how much they paid for things. So remember that, you mothers-in-law. Don't ask how much things cost. Don't even hint that you're interested in the price tag by such remarks as: "It must have been awfully expensive."

If your daughter-in-law wants you to know what something cost she'll tell you without being asked.

Biggest bats are found in the Old World tropics. Popularly called "flying foxes," they have a wingspread of about five feet.

Moscow Maps Out New Red Rampage After Berlin Failure

By Leon Dennen
NEA Staff Correspondent
PARIS—Watch Europe's Reds going on yet another "revolutionary" rampage.
Judged by Moscow's Pravda and the Paris l'Humanite, the Cominform's chief mouthpiece in the West, the Kremlin rulers were clearly disturbed by Vyacheslav Molotov's failure to split the Western Powers at the Berlin Four Power conference.

They will now seek to retrieve lost ground through "intensified revolutionary action." This means renewed agitation for "popular fronts" and a new wave of strikes and violence.

Orders to this effect were issued by the Cominform to the Red parties of France and Italy immediately following the Berlin talks, French Communist sources report.

The new instructions obviously are designed to soften up the NATO powers for the conference on Korea and Indo-China that will meet in Geneva, Switzerland, on April 26.

They call for:

1. Immediate formation of united fronts, drawing in the middle classes and anti-Communist Socialists.

2. New demands for higher wages, supported by agitation and strikes.

3. Undermining of national and colonial governments in North Africa, the Middle East and Asia by new acts of provocation.

Since the end of the Berlin meeting the French Reds have appealed twice to the Socialists to form a "united front" against "American imperialism." They were rebuffed each time.

Communists carrying out Moscow's orders are not easily discouraged, of course. Humanite continues to scream editorially: "Time is short. The united front of the working class must grow and develop in order to prevent the formation of the European Army."

However, this time Humanite's shrill noises seem to fall on deaf ears.

Even Europe's neutralists—who are still conducting a heated post-mortem on the Berlin talks—are beginning to see the impossibility of a compromise between the free world and communism. They are awakening to the grim fact that Molotov's impertinently cynical "security" proposals would merely give Europe the security of the antelope in the stomach of the lion.

In this respect the Berlin talks were not completely fruitless. The Western powers, to be sure, were not always competent or well-versed in their negotiations with the Russians. But Molotov was his own worst enemy.

The Russians gambled at Berlin and lost. They scored minor propaganda victories. They sneaked Red China through the back door into the Geneva conference. But they failed in their main tasks:

1. Prevent the formation of the European Defense Community with the participation of West Germany.

2. Split the NATO powers.

3. Isolate the United States.

The proceedings at Berlin have actually improved the prospects of France ratifying the European Army treaty. They have also clearly demonstrated Russia's aggressive designs in the West.

Don't Get Panicky When Man Refuses to Talk Shop

By Ruth Millett
Women have been told so often that they ought to encourage their husbands to talk about their business affairs that some of them get downright panicky because their husbands refuse to give out with any information about "their day."

For all the writers to this column who complain their husbands only mumble when they ask them "What's new at the office?" or "How did things go today?" one word of advice: relax.

Maybe you are married to a man who likes to put work completely out of his mind when he comes home at night. Plenty may have happened at the office today, but he wants to put his mind on something else until tomorrow morning.

So don't give up your attempts at conversation simply because your efforts to get him to talk about business fall flat.

Talk About Something Cheerful
Fish around and find something else to talk about—something interesting, or cheerful, or amusing.

If he has managed to put his own career and worries out of his mind he won't want you unloading yours on him. So don't tell him the laundry list of his shirts, you got a parking ticket, and Junior got the worst end of a fight with the kid next door.

He can't do anything about your day's unpleasantness, and if he has taken care of the difficulties of his own day, he'll expect you to have done the same.

So relax. Forget your problems and let him forget his. Keep your chatter lighthearted.

Don't feel you are failing as a wife just because your husband doesn't want to talk shop with you. Chances are you are married to a man who is able to forget his work and doesn't want to be added to having to think about it.

Ticks and Chiggers

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas has turned up as one of the principal opponents to plans for building a memorial highway from Washington to Cumberland, Md., along the route of George Washington's old Ohio Canal, which follows the Potomac River. Opposition to this project comes from people who want to keep the area an undeveloped country for hikers and campers. They think a road would spoil it. To promote this idea, Justice Douglas has offered to lead a hiking expedition over the 100-mile trail.

There's a catch in this offer, however. Justice Douglas insists that it must be made early in the year. Later in the summer, the ticks and the chiggers along the canal bed are so thick that humans can scarcely get out of it alive.

Sea anemones actually are animals, whose dainty "petals" are tentacles reaching out to trap unwary shrimp and other small marine prey.

Getting Too Big for His Britches?

The World Today—McCarthy Revives Old Issue

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — Sen. McCarthy's treatment of a general did more than get the Wisconsin Republican into a row with Robert T. Stevens, secretary of the Army. It helped revive an old question:

Should Congress lay down mandatory rules for its committees—which now make their own as they see fit—guaranteeing witnesses who appear before them fair play and more rights than they have now?

Congress has battled that one around, in one shape or another, for more than 100 years while doing practically nothing about it. If the past is any criterion, it won't do much now.

Various committees, including McCarthy's, have rules for procedure and reasonable treatment of witnesses. Whether they're lived up to depends in each case on the committee members who made them.

Last year and early this year members of both houses suggested Congress as a whole tighten up on its committees.

Then, after the McCarthy-Stevens feud erupted a week ago, Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) and Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-NY) offered a detailed set of rules they call a "code of fair committee procedure." In many ways they'd give a witness the basic rights he gets in court but doesn't have before a committee.

Then the Republican family dispute between McCarthy and the Eisenhower administration got so much public attention it worried the Senate's Republican Policy Committee.

This group, which sets Republican Senate strategy, unanimously decided it was time to look into the possibility of changing the rules for investigating committees. President Eisenhower was reported anxious to see a tightening up. Rep. Javits (R-NY) proposed a single committee of House and Senate members to do all Congress' Communist hunting.

Such a joint arrangement would mean abolishing the House Un-American Activities Committee, headed by Rep. Velde (R-Ill), the Senate's internal security subcommittee, headed by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) and taking such responsibility from McCarthy's subcommittee.

The arguments on both sides might be boiled down this way:

1. A congressional investigating

Looking Backward...

TWENTYFIVE YEARS AGO

Dr. M. T. Collins, Sedalia physician, who had been in Trinity Lutheran Hospital in Kansas City since December suffering from injuries sustained when struck by an automobile, arrived home.

The Missouri Society in Washington, D. C., of which Mrs. J. J. Roberts, former Sedalia, was secretary, was to entertain Missourians at a buffet supper March 4 in the Washington Hotel.

Secretary Mallon and Postmaster General Nelson recommended $170,000 expenditure for a new post office to be erected at Sedalia. The site, Fourth and Lamine, was selected for its location.

The semi-annual meeting of Harmony Association of Baptists was held at the First Baptist Church.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Rev. J. A. Koser was installed as pastor of the Trinity English Lutheran Church, Tenth and Osage, Sunday. The Rev. M. L. Ludden, D. D., western secretary of the board of home missions, delivered the charge and ceremonies were conducted by the Rev. H. L. Yarger, D. D., president of the general synod of the United States, field secretary of the church extension.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Flower left for the eastern markets to purchase goods for the Flower-Barnett Dry Goods Company store.

Jack Stein, who had been with the claims department of the Missouri Pacific under W. L. McCutcheon, claim agent, was succeeded by Harry Wilson, Nevada, Mo.

W. H. Holcroft, foreman of the freight car department at the MKT shops, was transferred to Parsons, Kan., to be general foreman of the car department. S. J. Stephenson, Parsons, succeeded him here.

Jack Spratt Diet: No. 2—

Vital Diet Step Is Visit to Doctor

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here's the second of seven articles in a unique two-way diet plan for the whole family—the ones who can eat no fat and the ones who can eat no lean as the Jack Spratt rhyme goes. The big-star man and wife who tell their experience with the diet are the Jose Ferrers (she's Rosemary Clooney). Along with their story, Adeline Garner, a top nutrition expert for business, industry and magazines, details a diet you can follow for the same results. Rosemary Clooney is soon to be seen in Paramount's "Red Garters." Jose Ferrer will soon be seen in "The Caine Mutiny."

By ROSEMARY CLOONEY
(Written for NEA Service)

The most important part of our program for regulated eating was the visit to our doctor. Fortunately, this visit was the only time my husband had to take from his busy schedule. The rest of the burden, I soon learned, was to fall on me. After checking our height, weight, blood count and metabolism, the doctor outlined a plan for us.

Although the plan actually involved a two-way diet, it turned out to be much less challenging than I had feared.

For one thing, I was delighted to learn that Joe and I could continue to eat similar foods. The difference would lie in the preparation. For example, the doctor assured us that we could both enjoy steak dinners, desserts and between-meal snacks. But the sauce on Joe's steak and the whipped cream on his pudding would not be seen on mine.

Careful eating was my only part of the plan. Rest and exercise, the doctor said, also were essential. He said that a person can expect to maintain proper weight only if he is watchful of all three factors. In other words, good weight and good health go together.

Maintaining such a wholesome regimen seemed close to impossible for people in the entertainment business. But we knew the dividends in enjoyment of work and living would be worth the effort.

then given newsmen such information as he chose. Morse and Lehman would prevent that by requiring a majority vote of the committee before such information could be released.

Now a witness can be forced to answer questions only, without a chance to put a full statement of his case in the record. Javits would see that he could do this as a right.

A defendant in a court trial has a right to counsel, and his lawyer can cross-examine witnesses and can call his own. At a committee hearing a witness is entitled to a lawyer only. Morse and Lehman would give him other rights.

Odds and Ends
By News Staff

THE PUP the two little sisters got for Christmas has recently decided to chase cars and the members of the family are getting to the place they are afraid to look every time he runs out.

One evening the father decided he would break the little dog of running out at cars. He put the two little boys, who happened to be at their house right at that time, in the car and was going to drive around the block several times so the little boys could throw rocks at the pup when it ran out and barked at the car.

As every car came by, the pup rushed out and barked at it on down the street. Then along came father and the two boys who were going to throw rocks. The pup sat down on the curbing when he saw the car coming and just looked at it. Around the block went father, again and again, but no matter how the pup chased other cars, when that one came in sight he would just sit on the curbing like a little angel pup.

Father was rather provoked with the pup and so he just stopped at his home and got out. As soon as he did the pup went on chasing cars.

"I'll teach him not to chase cars," said father. "I'll get the BB gun."

The pup had a wonderful time chasing cars until father appeared with the BB-gun and then he sat down on the curbing again and peacefully let the cars go by. Poor father is a nervous wreck.—H.L.

Billy Graham Opens Crusade For English

LONDON — Evangelist Billy Graham opened his 12-week crusade for a spiritual awakening in Britain with a revival service last night that drew a full house of 12,000 into London's Harringay Sports Arena. Thousands were unable to get in.

The 35-year-old American, in a blue lounge suit with a small microphone at a lapel, held the throng spellbound with an impassioned sermon in which he repeatedly asked, "Does God matter?"

He led the gathering in Bible recitations and hymns.

Toward the end he called for persons ready to acknowledge Jesus Christ to come forward. Between 500 and 600 filed down the 25 aisles to confess their faith in a separate auditorium.

"So many, so many, thank God," said Graham, with head bowed. The hymn singing persisted after the worshippers headed home in sleet and rain. At their bus stops and in subway stations, they continued singing the old religious songs in which Graham had led them.

The evangelist said he knew that "in London tonight there is a great hunger for God." He asked the worshippers to pray "as you have never prayed before to bring about this revival of the spirit which holds the only hope for the salvation of the Western world and for peace."

Fabulously Rich Texas Oil Man Defends Facts Forum's Air Time

NEW YORK — A fabulously rich Texas oilman has struck a roaring gusher of controversy in the field of public affairs.

He is H. L. (Haroldson Lafayette) Hunt of Dallas, financial backer of the Facts Forum radio and television programs.

Associates say he is worth two billion dollars, that he makes one million a week.

Maybe he's the richest man in the United States, if not the world. Hunt himself won't discuss the fortune that he started with $50 in 1921.

The controversy over Facts Forum and how objective it is has swirled for the past several months.

Hunt vows the programs offer fair and impartial discussion of public issues and that they merit the three million dollars a year of free air time they are getting.

Critics term the forum a political propaganda machine, giving major weight to conservatism and isolationism. Some charge it is a front to push Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) into the presidency. They say it should not get free air time.

Like most men of great wealth, Hunt shuns personal publicity. But he came to New York recently and called a news conference at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel to defend Facts Forum against the attacks.

The conference was called at a time when the New York Post was running a series of articles critical of Hunt. The Post was not represented at the conference. The Post said the next day Hunt had refused to see a Post reporter.

The conference threw some light on Hunt's rise to riches, his personality and his political philosophy.

Before his arrival, an associate was asked if there were any truth in a seemingly fantastic rumor that he was worth 500 million dollars. Not half a billion, but more, said the associate. He declared Hunt had 400 million in natural gas holdings alone "and that is only a by-product of his oil holdings."

Besides oil wells and oil properties, he owns vast ranches and farms, raises cattle and pecan nuts, and has a number of other business interests.

He reputedly is the largest independent oil operator in the United States. With so many oil wells he does not have the exact number at hand.

His only comment on his personal finances was that he was wiped out as a cotton planter in 1921 when the price dropped from $1.25 a pound to 10 cents.

"So I went into the oil fields with $50," he related. His first investment was in an oil well at Lake Village, Ark. It gushed. Oil wells have been gushing for him ever since.

Hunt, comfortably dressed in a light tan suit, white shirt and light-colored bow tie, sat on a sofa in a suite as he talked.

He is a tall, white-haired man of 63, well built and with evidence of a Texas tan. He speaks quietly and slowly, carefully considering his words.

His manner was genial throughout and he smiled frequently.

He appeared untroubled when asked about accusations that his forum is anti-Semitic, anti-Catholic, anti-labor, anti-Negro and pro-Fascist.

He labels all such accusations as "ridiculous." He said the forum was anti-Communist but that other wise its sole aim was to increase popular interest in public issues.

He said it never contributed a nickel to McCarthy for campaign expenses or speaking tours, that it supports no candidates and does no lobbying.

Hunt is married and the father of four sons and two daughters. The girls, incidentally, had a hand in the founding of Facts Forum.

He said that, in 1948, his original intention was to establish a foundation devoted to agriculture, to be known as "Farm Facts Foundation."

He intended to set up several $500,000 farm units where young men not going to college would work a six-hour day, learning scientific farming, soil conservation and reforestation.

While he was considering that, he said, his daughters suggested there was no food shortage and asked why he didn't do something to get people more interested in public affairs.

Robert H. Dedham, a young Texas attorney, was interested in the same idea. From these discussions there developed Facts Forum with Dedham as president and Hunt as chief financial backer. The daughters, Margaret (Mrs.

Al G. Hill) and Caroline (Mrs. Lloyd B. Sandi), both of Dallas, presently are active in neighborhood discussion groups, one of the forum activities.

Facts Forum currently conducts four radio or television programs. Hunt said free air time is given to them on the ground that they are educational and are impartial discussions of public issues. He estimated the time is worth three million dollars a year.

The Providence Journal and Evening Bulletin launched the first major investigation of Facts Forum in a series of eight articles last December and January. The gist of their findings was:

"The major criticism that can be made of Facts Forum is that its net effect is to disseminate fear, suspicion and divisive propaganda."

"The consistent pattern of its 'both sides' broadcasts is to reduce all national issues to: 'Isolationism, ultra-conservatism and McCarthyism—versus—treason or stupidity.'"

"The results of this, if carried into the entire field of mass communications, could be to increase the pressures dividing segments of American society, to increase group hatreds, and to implant suspicions which did not exist before."

The New York Post declared in its series:

"Facts Forum, stubbornly insisting upon its political chastity, has announced that its relationship with Sen. McCarthy has been greatly exaggerated."

"Since the nationwide propaganda machine and the junior senator from Wisconsin can scarcely be considered strange bedfellows it is obvious its protest is motivated less by gallantry or outrage than by a fear of losing its tax-free status as a nonpartisan foundation."

The Post series carried page 1 headlines such as "How Facts Forum Sells McCarthy (Tax-Free)" and "Joe McCarthy's $5,000,000 Machine."

Dan Smoot, commentator on one radio program, follows a format of giving one side of the question first and then the other side.

The critics argue that Smoot gives the liberal side in a perfunctory manner but gives a real emotional pitch to the conservative arguments that close the program.

Hunt says he regards Smoot as more conservative than himself, but that about one third of the mail received by Facts Forum complains that too much stress is placed on the liberal side.

A Facts Forum TV program presents two senators taking opposite sides on an issue of the day. Critics say these are slanted with a "dumbbell" on the liberal side.

and an adroit speaker on the conservative side. Hunt denied this. As examples of fair exchange, he said, Senators Bricker (R-Ohio) and Kefauver (D-Tenn.) debated the Bricker amendment, and Senators Gore (D-Tenn.) and Dickson (R-Ill.) the Tennessee Valley Authority.

A third program, Hardy Burt's State of the Nation, consists of interviews with various governors, often questioned by newsmen from papers of opposite political views. Burt, who attended the news conference, said Hunt never told him whom to interview or what to ask.

But also moderates the fourth program, Answers for Americans, in which a panel answers questions sent in by listeners. This has been criticized as being slanted with conservative "experts." Hunt said every effort was made to get a balanced panel.

He says he himself probably could be classed as a conservative Democrat. He favored Gen. Douglas MacArthur for the presidency and later supported Dwight Eisenhower's candidacy.

He insisted that in his own views and Facts Forum were separate and distinct.

"There is no thought of using Facts Forum to elect Republicans and defeat Democrats," he said.

He said motives behind Communist criticism of Facts Forum as Fascist-tinged were obvious. But he said he believed criticism from "responsible publications" resulted from misunderstanding and not a desire to smear.

He said Facts Forum, while anti-Communist, had not originated specifically as an anti-Communist movement.

"We do not like to be 'anti,'" he declared. "We are for things, for freedom of the individual."

Doris Lee Swearngin On College Dean's List

GREENVILLE, S. C. — Miss Doris Lee Swearngin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Swearngin, Route 1, La Monte, has been named on the Bob Jones University dean's list for the first semester of the 1953-54 school year.

This official list includes only those students who averaged the grades of "A" or "B" in all their courses for the first semester. They are members of a student body which numbers each year approximately three thousand young people from nearly every state and from more than a score of foreign countries.

Miss Swearngin, a senior enrolled in the school of education, is working for the bachelor of science degree with a major in elementary education.

Inter-America Conference Hits Commies

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Delegates to the 10th Inter-American Conference took a carnival holiday today as they observed a day of mourning for the victims of the attack on communism.

Colombia's foreign minister, Evaristo Sordis, responding to the welcoming address of President Col. Marcos Perez Jimenez of Venezuela yesterday, was interrupted by applause for his denunciation of "the forces of evil which operate in darkness."

Sordis called for defense of the continent "wherever totalitarian aggression presents itself." He urged the countries of the Western Hemisphere to adopt "the necessary measures to impede or uproot all activity which tends to encourage the dominance of international forces which threaten the free nations of the world."

Communist infiltration of the hemisphere is one of the chief topics of the conference, attended by the foreign ministers of the United States and 19 Latin-American nations. But Latin Americans consider economic matters, including U. S. financial plans, the chief item.

The first plenary session met in a magnificent, wire-protected auditorium at nearby University City only about an hour after a group of Puerto Rican Nationalists shot and wounded five members of the U. S. House of Representatives in Washington.

One of the Puerto Ricans told police they timed their attack in an attempt to influence opinion at the conference against the United States, which has granted Puerto Rico commonwealth status and offered it full independence whenever the islanders want it.

Secretary of state Dulles issued a statement saying he was "deeply shocked." Arturo Morales Carrión, Puerto Rican undersecretary of state and a member of the U. S. delegation, expressed distress and said "I think it was an act of sheer lunacy."

Mississippi Offers Public Ridicule To Curb Drunkenness

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Public ridicule is offered by the Mississippi House as a curb to drunken driving.

The House voted 82-22 yesterday for a bill that would require a convicted drunk driver to work at least one day on the jail grounds during daylight hours. The bill was held up on a routine motion to reconsider, but the overwhelming favorable vote indicated final approval.

The measure provides a mandatory five-day jail sentence as minimum punishment with one year the maximum. The violator could also be fined $100 to $1,000 and have his driver's license revoked.

Mardi Gras Reaches Its Lavish Climax

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The city's madcap Mardi Gras celebration reaches its lavish climax today when Rex, Lord of Misrule, reigns over the "City That Care Forgot."

Masked revelers, garbed in costumes ranging from angels to the most nude savages, took to the streets with the first rays of daylight to await Rex's glittering procession.

The Mystick Krewe of Comus, oldest of all Mardi Gras organizations, is slated to take over to night.

Recognizes Own Car Smashed In Accident

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Harry H. Kamp, a tow-truck driver, cast an expert's glance at the smashed Cadillac and agreed with police: "Yep, it's a bad one, all right."

Then he took another look at the wreck he was supposed to tow away.

"Hey," he exclaimed, "that's my car."

Sure enough, stolen and wrecked before he even missed it.

Texans Buy Half Share Of Bull for $115,000

MADISON, Kan. (AP)—Two Texans bought a half interest in an Aberdeen-Angus bull for $115,000—a record price for a bull of any breed.

Bedford Wynne, Dallas, and Bill Byers, Tyler, Tex., bought the interest in 5-year-old Prince 105 of TT from the Simon Angus farm for breeding purposes.

Urban Simon and John Simon, operators of the farm, said last night the previous record price was $105,000 paid by the McCormick Farms of Illinois to Ralph Smith

Last Year's Calendar--

Traffic Deaths In Missouri

Here is the Missouri Fatality Calendar for March of last year. Traffic accidents which took the lives of 86 persons. For some unknown reason Thursday became the most bloody day in the month, and there were only one death on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

To add to Thursday's disgrace there were two Thursdays in which seven people were killed—the highest daily toll during the month.

It's an unhappy thought that motorists cannot go onto Missouri's highways and streets without exposing themselves to the slaughter occurring there day by day. It is an uncalculated disgrace for the use of common courtesy most accidents would be prevented.

The seven rules for courteous driving are: 1. Adjust driving to road, traffic and weather conditions. 2. Yield right of way to other drivers and pedestrians. 3. Allow ample clearance when passing. 4. Give proper signals for turns and stops. 5. Respect and obey traffic laws, signs and signals. 6. Drive in proper lane. 7. Dim lights when meeting or following at night.

Bob Thomas In Hollywood--

'The Egyptian' Is Headache Film of Year In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"The Egyptian" may rank as Hollywood's headache picture of the year. It has been just as much trouble casting the props as it has the leading man.

Marlon Brando left for New York as filming was about to start. Twentieth Century-Fox charged breach of contract and sued him for two million dollars. Brando's doctor, however, said he was ill.

Now, it turns out that "The Egyptian" is one of the toughest pictures in years from the scenic standpoint too.

"We had to start from scratch," said Walter Scott, head of the studio's prop department. "No studio has ever made a big picture about ancient Egypt until now. We were able to borrow a few items from MGM, which has been making 'Valley of the Kings.' But most of what we had to create from scratch."

"We have made 5,000 different items for the picture. Now the others want to borrow our things. We've already had four men from Cecil B. DeMille over here to see what they can use in 'The 10 Commandments.'"

He showed me some of the items that have been made. Those ancient Egyptians had a lot of modern ideas.

They were masters of makeup. Scott explained. He demonstrated a replica of a queen's makeup box that would make Max Factor green with envy. Also small, carved gizmos for holding mummy's eye shadow. You can bet that Egyptian husbands had to wait just as long for their wives to beautify themselves as we do.

There was a game called hounds and jackals, a sort of pre-Christian scrabble. A set of miniature furniture for children to play with. Chairs and couches that would find ready buyers in any department store.

"The Egyptians had a great sense of line and proportion," said Scott. "Many of their pieces compare favorably with the best modern furniture today." All of the 5,000 items are true reproductions of the originals, which were preserved through the ages by the favorable desert climate.

Why all this worrying about accuracy? Well, the studio figures it gives the proper feeling to the picture. Besides, some Egyptologists might write a stinging letter if they of Chillicothe, Mo., for a half interest in McLarry Domino 12th a hereford.

"The Egyptians had a great sense of line and proportion," said Scott. "Many of their pieces compare favorably with the best modern furniture today." All of the 5,000 items are true reproductions of the originals, which were preserved through the ages by the favorable desert climate.

Electricians Begin Second Day of Strike

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A strike by 131 city-employed electricians, which has disrupted some municipal services, moves into its second day today with no immediate break in sight.

The electricians, members of Local 1 and 2, AFL Electrical Workers Union, walked off their jobs yesterday morning and set up picket lines at major city buildings. Thirty-five painters employed by the city also went on strike.

At a meeting last night, the delegate body of the Missouri State Council 21, American Federation of State, County and Municipal employees (AFL), voted against joining the strike. It represents about 3,000 city employees.

John Olson, business agent for the council, said the group decided that "any action taken regarding picket lines is taken by individual units or local unions."

Most city workers reported to their jobs as usual on the first day of the strike, although some other union members among the city's 8,300 employees refused to cross the picket lines.

Kiel Auditorium was without heat, forcing the possible cancellation of the St. Louis University Billikens basketball game against Bradley tomorrow night unless arrangements can be made for the game to be played there.

City hospitals, the city jail and workhouse and municipal waterworks were not picketed.

The electricians are seeking a wage equivalent to that received in private industry. They now receive $2.92 hourly for construction work, compared to the prevailing hourly wage of $3.23, and $2.20 an hour for maintenance work, compared to a $2.44 prevailing wage.

A revised pay plan for city employees drafted by the Civil Service Commission was rejected recently by the Board of Aldermen.

in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Peters.

Mr. and Mrs. Doris Lacey, Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Eckhoff, Mrs. Emma Tubising, Mr. and Mrs. Dailey Linville, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Tobaben, Miss Olga Tobaben, Leonard Schnell and Frank Tubising were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Tobaben and son Rodney.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Riecke and family, Kansas City spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Eckhoff.

Will Directs Sermons, Speeches Be Destroyed

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A will directing that all his sermons and speeches be destroyed was found yesterday among the papers of the Rev. Dr. John W. MacIvor, Presbyterian minister who died Sunday.

Kendall Perkins, a son-in-law of the former president of the Metropolitan Church Federation, said Dr. MacIvor's wishes would be carried out.

The hand-written document, which was declared invalid because it bore the signature of only one witness, (two are required by law) concluded with the statement: "I direct all my sermons and ad-

Bridge Wins, Motorists Lose
PASADEA, Calif. (AP)—Two houses and a bridge met on San Gabriel boulevard. The bridge won, but it was the motorists who lost.
The house movers with the houses behind their trucks drove into a new underpass. The houses were too tall.
For three noisy hours, the highway patrol, police, the movers and stalled motorists worked to turn them around. When they succeeded, black-long lines of cars finally began moving.

Another Puerto Rican Charged; Threat to Ike

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Pedro S. Orozco, 24, a Hartford Puerto Rican, will be presented before a federal grand jury at New Haven today on a charge of threatening to "kill the President."

He was arrested yesterday at about the same time a group of Puerto Ricans in the balcony of the House of Representatives in Washington sprayed shots onto the crowded House floor, wounding five representatives.

He was arrested on a charge of nonsupport while he was testifying against his estranged wife, who was being tried in police court on a charge of breach of the peace. He was taken to police headquarters for fingerprinting.

Detective Capt. Joseph P. McDonald quoted policeman Otto H. Felle as saying Orozco threatened to "kill President Eisenhower" while he was being fingerprinted.

McDonald reported the incident to U. S. Atty. Simon S. Cohen, who issued a warrant for Orozco's arrest and ordered him presented before U. S. Commissioner Benedict M. Holden.

Holden, finding probable cause, ordered Orozco held in bonds of $15,000 pending his arraignment before the federal jury.

Although two policemen testified before Holden that they had heard Orozco threaten the President's life, he denied having made the statement.

"I never carried a gun or a pistol," he said on the stand. "No kill anyone."

Cohen said that while Orozco has been drawing unemployment compensation benefits here, he has made trips to New York and Detroit. Cohen said a complete investigation of the man's travels would be made "since we don't know if he is a lone wolf or a member of the Puerto Rican nationalist group."

Shot-by-Shot Recoyl of House

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Congressional Record, which reports every word of official business in the House and Senate chambers, had not a word about yesterday's shooting in its issue out today.

The period of the wild incident in the House chamber is covered by this language, during debate on a Mexican labor bill:

Mr. Cooley—Mr. Speaker, a point of order.

The speaker—The gentleman will state it.

Mr. Cooley—Mr. Speaker, I make the point of order that a quorum is not present.

The speaker—The chair will count. (After counting) Two hundred and forty-three members are present, a quorum. The question is on the resolution.

Mr. Cooley—Mr. Speaker, I demand a division.

(The shooting took place at that point but the record did not say so.)

RECESS

The speaker—The chair declares the house in recess subject to the call of the chair.

Accordingly (at 2 o'clock and 33 minutes p. m.) the House stood in recess subject to the call of the chair.

AFTER RECESS

The recess having expired, the House was called to order by the speaker at 2 o'clock and 42 minutes p. m.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. Halleck—Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to; accordingly (at 2 o'clock and 43 minutes p. m.) the House adjourned until tomorrow, Tuesday, March 2, 1954, at 12 o'clock noon.

HST Says 'Too Bad' Shooting Could Occur

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Harry S. Truman, whose life was endangered by Puerto Rican fanatics while he was president, said yesterday it was too bad an incident like the House of Representatives shooting could happen.

"I'm sorry to hear about it," he told a reporter. "It's too bad a thing like that could happen."

An attempt on the former President's life occurred Nov. 1, 1950, while he was living in Blair House, the temporary White House.

Two Puerto Ricans attempted to shoot their way in. One was killed by White House police and the other was brought down, wounded, on the steps of the Blair House. One of the guards also was killed.

A federal jury decreed death for the wounded Puerto Rican, Oscar Collazo, but Truman commuted the sentence to life imprisonment.

Photographers Object To Meter Installation

ROCKPORT, Mass. (AP)—Town meeting members of this famed art center are against having parking meters in front of the Congregational meeting house.

They told the town fathers the meters would ruin photographers' chances for good pictures.

The selectmen assured upset members that "aesthetic senses will be respected."

Hangs Trousers In Bad Spot, Wallet Is Taken

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Norman Thomas hung his trousers in the wrong place when he went to sleep.

He told police yesterday a thief took $320 from his wallet which was in his trousers hanging near an insecure window in a bedroom of his home.

Thomas, a chauffeur, was asleep in the room at the time.

CONGRESSMEN WOUNDED IN WILD ATTACK—These four members of the House of Representatives were wounded in a volley of shots from the gallery during a vote count. Left to right are Rep. Clifford Davis of Tennessee, wounded in the right leg; Rep. Ben F. Jensen of Iowa, back wound; Rep. Kenneth A. Robert of Alabama, leg wound; and Rep. Alvin M. Puerto Ricans Who Fired In House Expect Punishment But Consider Selves Patriots

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here are four Puerto Ricans—three men and a woman—in jail and accused of disrupting official business of the world's mightiest nation with gunfire.

Although they expect to be punished, they do not consider themselves criminals, but rather patriots.

Mrs. Lolita Lebron and Rafael Cancel Miranda made that quite clear last night in an interview at police headquarters barely eight hours after they let go with a wild fusillade of pistol shots that felled five congressmen.

To Americans, the whole incident may seem incredible, but to the pair, somehow, George Washington, the American Revolution and the shooting are connected.

Certain facts are clear. They met in New York City Feb. 22—George Washington's Birthday—to perfect their fanatic plans.

Obviously, Mrs. Lebron and Miranda, at least, thought of themselves as two of the world's little people; two people without a voice but with a burning message, "Puerto Rico must be free!" Their two alleged associates in the shooting did not appear at the interview.

Mrs. Lebron reminded reporters, almost wildly, that "when you liberate your country, your people they fight and die."

Mrs. Lebron, 34, the oldest of the four charged and the most articulate in English, said frankly they came to Washington "to make a political demonstration."

She apparently had considered the very practical question of who would listen to four Puerto Ricans. In any case, the method selected of gaining attention, while violent, was successful.

She and Miranda seemed to feel that through the interview they had achieved their end.

She said March 1 was selected because that was the date for the opening of the Inter-American Conference in Venezuela.

She said the shooting was to "bring the attention of the people to the plight of Puerto Rico. It is a country that is not free."

She likened it to the American colonies before the Revolution. The words came tumbling out as she declared that in Puerto Rico, "a woman of 60 is in prison."

There are many men in prison. There are many political prisoners."

She was scornful of the duly elected legislature in her native land. "They have pledged allegiance to the United States," she said.

As for Miranda, he stood almost stolidly for about 30 minutes, answering only an occasional question.

Then someone asked a question about the details of the shooting and he burst out, "We don't talk about the little things" and ended.

Bentley Beat Staunch Ally of Puerto Rico

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Bentley (R-Mich.), the most seriously wounded of five House members shot by Puerto Rican nationalists yesterday, came to Congress after unseating one of Puerto Rico's staunchest U. S. friends, Fred L. Crawford.

Bentley whipped Crawford in the 1952 primary campaign for the Republican nomination from their Michigan district.

Crawford, who would have become chairman of the House committee that handles Puerto Rican affairs, authored legislation which allowed the island possession to elect its own governor.

Man, 88, Is Ordered To Quit Carousing

DETROIT (AP)—William Seighman, 88, has been ordered by a judge to quit his "carousing and drinking."

Probate Judge William Sexton issued the order yesterday on petition of Seighman's daughter, Mrs. Wealthie A. Whetstone, and placed him under her guardianship.

Mrs. Whetstone said her father was a "spendthrift" and went on a tour every time he got his $70 monthly old age pension check.

More Reds Leave Tokyo for Russia

TOKYO (AP)—The second group of Russians from the unrecognized Soviet mission in Tokyo departed for their homeland.

Kyodo news agency said the party included three members of the mission and three family members. Eight Russians left Japan last week.

The departures cut to 19 the persons at the mission.

Next Year to Be Most Critical One For Missouri's Schools

The Sedalia Community Teachers Association held its monthly session at the Little Theatre at Smith-Cotton High School Saturday, Feb. 27. Dr. Raymond A. Roberts, director of elementary education in Missouri, was speaker.

Dr. Roberts challenged his audience as he spoke on the changes in the curriculum for Missouri schools and after saying education is standard attained at any time in its history, he hastened to add that next year will be the most crucial year.

The new guide for elementary education for Missouri is the result of long and definite study by a committee of 21 teachers. Most of the material published by the State Department of Education is written by the teachers who are in the classroom throughout the state, he said.

Workshops have been set up where the guide is in use as a resource book in building the curriculum for their own schools.

Five percent of the children of elementary schools and 30 percent of the children of secondary school age are not in school today Dr.

Clouds of Smoke Worry Albuquerque

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Hundreds of Albuquerqueans were told last night not to worry when they called radio stations and newspapers to inquire about dense clouds of smoke over the city.

It's only a big brush fire in the river, they were told. And it was just that—a fire in the river bed of the almost dry Rio Grande.

How to Free Boredom With TV: Wreck Zoo

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Police asked 14-year-old Michael Quick what prompted him to free a flock of crows, hawks and pigeons from the zoo by opening their cages with wire cutters.

"I got bored" looking at television at home," the lad answered yesterday.

The case awaits a probation officer's recommendation.

Tito Requests Chinese Reds Be Recognized

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Yugoslav President Tito says he believes war is further away than it was two years ago, and the nations of the world should recognize Communist China.

He also hopes and believes Yugoslavia's relations with Russia will improve, but says "they have not gone far beyond routine diplomatic exchanges."

He set forth his views at a dinner given in his honor last Thursday by Belgrade's Foreign Press Association. His remarks were released for publication today with direct quotation barred.

The Yugoslav chief made these major points:

1. His administration plans to avoid participation in the North Atlantic Alliance and the proposed European Defense Community but has no objection to its partners in the "Little Three" defense alliance—Greece and Turkey, both already NATO members—participating in a common European security organization.

2. The Berlin conference of the Big Four foreign ministers was a success even if no agreement was reached on Germany and Austria. For one thing, the talks were held without a rupture in relations.

3. The West should recognize the Peiping government, if for no other reason than to give it a chance to demonstrate if it could operate free of Moscow's control. Tito acknowledged he was uncertain what would result.

4. Yugoslavia still intends to pursue an independent policy and never permit any country to interfere with its internal affairs.

5. Normalization of relations between Yugoslavia and the Russian-led Cominform, which broke with Tito in 1948, is a long process and is moving forward at a much slower pace than anticipated.

6. Tito approves of such defense organizations as NATO so long as they do not take on aggressive policies.

7. He sees no settlement in the near future of the dynamite-laden dispute between Yugoslavia and Italy over Trieste.

8. Yugoslavia appreciates the military aid the West has given it so far, but the nation needs much more, especially planes and tanks.

Settlement Ends Plagiarism Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The plagiarism suit of Ferenc Herczeg against MGM studio for $200,000 has been settled out of court. Herczeg, Hungarian playwright, charged a 1942 movie, "Seven Sweethearts," was based on "Seven Sisters," a play he wrote in 1903.

The settlement was announced

La Rosa Is Object Of Copyright Suit By Writers, Recorders

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Julius La Rosa, the singer, and several associates have been sued for 1 1/4 million dollars damages by two song writers and a recording company, on grounds of copyright infringement.

The action was brought yesterday by songwriters Tony Sacco and Thomas Conroy, and Record Music Corp. Their complaint involves the song "Eh Cumpari," which Sacco and Conroy contend is substantially the same as their song, "Hey, Goomba," written before 1948.

More than 11,000 homes have been built and 16,000 repaired in West Berlin since World War II.
